Welcome to The Tivoli Tattler

never know what that impact was as we might only see them once in our lives. It was a sobering thought. I'm sure you all have heard stories or experienced this in you own lives. I know I have.

So I will share the following with you and challenge you as we start to go about our busy lives, to continue to make a positive impact on all the people we meet.

You never really know the true impact you have on those around you. You never know how much someone needed the smile you gave them. You never know how much your kindness turned someone's entire life around. You never know how much someone needed that long hug or deep talk. So don't wait to be kind. Don't wait for someone else to be kind first. Don't wait for better circumstances or for someone to change. Just be kind, because you never know how much someone needs it. (Nikki Banas—Walk the Earth)

It's that time again when you have to sit and read the Tattler. I hope you are all still enjoying it. Please feel free to email me anything that you might want to share with your fellow Tivoli friends.

I was talking to a friend in Canada that I haven't seen for a while and thanks to the shutdowns we have had that little extra time to chat (where would we be without the internet). We got to talking about the impact we have on peoples as we pass them on life's journey.

As we talked we remarked that we might

Jean Edward

I'm a West Aussie born and bred. I was fortunate to grow up in South Perth and spend most weekends and holidays in Dunsborough, well before it was popular.

I come from a science background working at Curtin University for most of my adult life, but my passion has always been in the music and performing arts. So I worked two jobs, by day I was at Curtin and by night and weekends I was a sound tech, or planning concerts.

As a teenager I started singing in choirs and small groups and was fortunate to perform everywhere from country town halls to entertainment centres. So while most of my peers were dancing I was singing or swimming (my other passion).

In my Adult years I became involved in the sound side of concerts and latter the staging of concerts. I have been very fortunate to have worked with some very talented interstate and overseas artists.

I became involved with Tivoli a very long time ago, when the music was a piano and a drum kit and sometimes even a guitarist.

I only ever came in, sorted a problem or helped for a bit and then left. This all changed when I was asked by Sandy to video a show and then asked to help backstage. I had been in retirement for a while so thought it might be ok for one show to help out. I enjoyed it so much I'm still there and still enjoying myself.

It's great to be a part of the great Tivoli family and rekindle the love of theatre again.
